

Unitek Joins Forces with Trusted Health to Expand Workforce Education through Innovative Healthcare Workforce Solutions

Newport Beach, California – Unitek Learning is thrilled to announce that it has joined forces with Trusted Health, the leading labor marketplace for healthcare professionals. Founded in 2017, Trusted Health matches nurses with a range of flexible jobs that meet their preferences and career goals. They also offer support from a dedicated Clinical Care Team as well as unmatched insight into compensation and contract details. Trusted Works is their flagship staffing platform that helps hospitals meet one of their single biggest challenges: ensuring that every shift gets filled in an environment where both demand for healthcare services and the cost of labor are increasing exponentially.

Now, Trusted Health nurses can advance their careers through several programs offered by Unitek Learning schools. These individuals will have the opportunity to enjoy a special tuition rate as well as other savings that can be applied to pathways like the Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) degree, the RN-to-BSN completion program, the Master of Science in Nursing degree, and the Master's Entry Program in Nursing.

“Our goal is to work with Trusted Health on workforce development. We understand that students don't just want to land that dream job—they want that dream job to continue to evolve and grow with them,” said Janis Paulson, Chief Executive Officer at Unitek Learning. “With that in mind, we have educational pathways to help advance the workforce so they can take advantage of every opportunity they want today and down the road.”

“At Unitek, we are committed to education and workforce alignment so that the next generation can thrive,” said Karilyn Van Oosten, Vice President of Strategic Business Development at Unitek Learning. “We're honored to join forces with Trusted Health and help transform the healthcare workforce.
